Written by R. Paul Vance

R. Paul Vance
Varsity 'S' Club President
Men's Soccer 1998-2001

Dear Varsity 'S' Club Members,

By the time you read this, many of our fall sports teams will have concluded their competitions and our winter sports will be beginning theirs. Thus far, the Athletics Department and the Varsity 'S' Club have enjoyed a very busy and successful fall, and look forward to an equally successful and active spring. Below is a short list of some of the activities the Club spearheaded this fall.

- Hosted free tailgates for members prior to four home football games (WMU, ND, Iowa, Indiana);
- Hosted MSU/Notre Dame reunion of the 1966 10-10 tie and welcomed participants from both teams;
- Assisted with team reunions for Women's Basketball, Football, Men's Soccer, Swimming, Tennis, and Wrestling;
- Hosted our first "Celebration Tailgate" and annual awards presentation prior to the Iowa football game;
- Participation in the Celebrate 2017 weekend activities including the MSU Hall of Fame and Varsity Letter Jacket Ceremony;
- Participated in the homecoming parade;
- Provided complimentary football ticket offers for all members to most games;
- Hosted community outreach event for over 80 Pontiac middle schoolers;

This coming summer the Club will be hosting the National Letterwinners Association ("NLWA") conference on our beautiful campus. The NLWA is a professional organization made up of representatives from colleges and universities from across the United States that have organizations that recognize and serve their respective athletic alumni and letterwinners. The NLWA's mission is to connect organizations to better serve intercollegiate athletic alumni through collaboration. NLWA members from across the nation gather at this annual conference to share best practices, discuss challenges, and work through implementation strategies while adhering to the rules and regulations of the NCAA. This year's conference is set for June 26-28. If you are interested in attending the conference or assisting with the hosting efforts, please reach out to me at vancero2@gmail.com. We are very excited to show-off our campus and facilities to our fellow NLWA members.

Lastly, as we are now in the day and age where a majority of communication is electronic, I strongly encourage all of you to follow us on Facebook at <https://www.facebook.com/MSUVarsitySClub> and on twitter and Instagram @MSU_VarsityS. Please also retweet, favorite/like, and share our social media posts to help support and promote our Club and its initiatives. You can also stay up to date on Club activities by visiting our website at <http://msuvarsityclub.org/>.

We stand committed to honoring our past letterwinners, celebrating the present letterwinners and supporting the future Varsity 'S' Club letterwinners. If you have any feedback on how we can better serve our membership, please do not hesitate to contact me...or better yet, submit an application for a spot on our board of directors. All nominations are due by April 1, 2018.

Go Green!

Michigan State Hall of Fame Class of 2017

Special thanks to MSU Athletic Communications, Varsity 'S' Club staff and MSU Archive & Historical Collections for photos and articles.*

Bob Apisa
Football (1965-67)
Honolulu, Hawaii

One of just 15 players in program history to earn first-team All-America honors twice, fullback Bob Apisa played an instrumental role in helping the Spartans to a combined record of 19-1-1 during the 1965 and 1966 seasons, including back-to-back Big Ten and National Championships.

A three-year letterwinner from 1965-67, Apisa garnered first-team All-America accolades as a sophomore in 1965 by Football News, and repeated as a first-team All-American in 1966 by both the Football News and New York News.

“I got very emotional,” Apisa said upon learning of his election into the MSU Athletics Hall of Fame. “My wife was right there, and she hugged me. I think of all the hardship that I went through. I think of my teammates – I really do feel that they were very involved with my entrance into the Hall of Fame. I look at our team picture, and I see so many good guys – Wade Payne, Ed McCloud, Larry Smith, Tony Conti, Joe Przybycki, George Chatlos, Jimmy Raye, and on down the line – that were very instrumental and helped me get my footing at Michigan State. We were all part of the same class.”

Joe Baum
Men's Soccer Coach (1977-2008)
Women's Soccer Coach (1986-90)
Soccer (1966-68)
St. Louis, Missouri

Baum was a part of Michigan State soccer as a player, assistant coach and head coach for a combined 39 seasons. As a goalkeeper, he led MSU to back-to-back co-national championships. Later, he served as the head coach of the men's program for 32 years and the women's program for five years, compiling a combined 389 victories.

“I was shocked,” Baum said upon receiving a call from MSU Athletics Director Mark Hollis, notifying him of his selection into the Hall of Fame. “He called me at 7:45 in the morning and I thought something was wrong, so I braced myself. He said, ‘congrats, you were voted into the Hall of Fame.’ I was at a loss for words. I said, ‘oh my gosh.’ I’m just so humbled and honored.”

Bob Cassleman
Track & Field (1971-74)
Grand Rapids, Michigan

Bob Cassleman's name is on many records, titles and awards. His name is scattered throughout the Michigan State track & field record and history book and will most likely be there forever. There is now one more spot for Cassleman's name to be etched for eternity, the Michigan State Athletics Hall of Fame.

He was a five-time All-American and finished in the top 10 of the NCAA Championships a total of eight times. He won a total of eight individual Big Ten titles as well as five more conference crowns in relays, including two that set collegiate-record times, combining for a remarkable total of 13 Big Ten titles.

"Initially, it was like Christmas as a child. I knew I had been nominated and I hoped it would happen, but when it did happen I felt an incredible thrill," Cassleman said about his feeling when getting the phone call from MSU Athletics Director Mark Hollis. "I'm just incredibly grateful to be named to the 2017 Class. When you consider all the men and women that have worn the Green & White over the many, many years, you can't but be a bit humbled."

Kristin Haynie
Women's Basketball (2001-05)
Mason, Michigan

Kristin Haynie was the quintessential Spartan, leading the Michigan State women's basketball team to its first Final Four during the magical 2005 season. The Mason, Michigan, native dreamed of becoming a Spartan and used complete tenacity to make her dreams come true.

After the conclusion of her playing days, Haynie returned to the court as an assistant coach at both Eastern Michigan and Central Michigan. These days, she continues to help young athletes reach their potential. She works with basketball players of all ages at Ignite Training, improving their speed, agility and fundamentals in the Mason and Kalamazoo areas.

"When Mark Hollis told me, I was speechless," Haynie said about being told of her honor. All these types of emotions were going through my head so quickly, and I was definitely shocked and I thought I was dreaming. MSU was always my dream school to play ball at and to be inducted into the MSU Athletics Hall of Fame definitely leaves me speechless. Obviously, it is not just me; it is my coaches even from when I was a kid from middle school to high school. There are also my teammates that basically made me look good. This is an award for everybody who has been a part of my life."

Dr. Clarence Underwood
Administration (1969, 1972-83, 1990-2002)
Gadsden, Alabama

Jan. 1, 1954, was a great day in the history of Michigan State football and Spartan athletics. On that day, the Spartans defeated UCLA, 28-20, in their first ever trip to the Rose Bowl. It was also a day that changed the life of Clarence Underwood, exposing him to Michigan State, a place where he would later serve as an educator, administrator, and most importantly a mentor to so many student-athletes.

Stationed at Fort Bragg, North Carolina, Underwood, serving in the United States Army 82nd Airborne Division, was on a break from guard duty when he happened upon a live broadcast of the Rose Bowl.

“I had never seen black and white boys playing together on the same team,” said Underwood, who grew up in Gadsden, Alabama. “I couldn’t believe the number of black athletes playing key roles for Michigan State – players such as LeRoy Bolden and James Hinesly.

“At that time I told myself ‘man, when I leave here I’m going to Michigan State.’” After 11 years at Michigan State, during which time he worked to earn a Ph.D. in administration and higher education in 1982, Underwood became a deputy commissioner at the Big Ten Conference in 1983. At the Big Ten, Underwood served as the liaison with each school’s director of athletics, was the primary administrator for the men’s sports coaches and oversaw the officials, team physicians and athletic trainers.

“Nothing stuns me at my age, but I was stunned when Mark Hollis called me,” said Underwood. “It’s an amazing honor, but I never worked for individual recognition or honors. I’m elated and just starting to wrap my mind around it.”

Jasper Koenen

As the President of the Student-Athlete Advisory Council and a representative on the Athletic Council, Jasper is busy with more than tennis. “Student athletes have the duty and the task to give back to the community, to inspire, and to be thankful. Our coaches took a chance to give us the opportunity to compete at the Big Ten level.”

The Hospitality Business Major’s motivation to give back comes from an experience with another tennis team. At the age of nine, Jasper was in the hospital suffering from a severe kidney infection when the LSU tennis team visited him.

“Life was really scary; I did not know what was going to happen. It was also happening during Hurricane Katrina so there was just a lot going on in my life, living in Louisiana. Having all of those guys from LSU there just talking to me and interacting with me get me that perspective. They gave me inspiration to become a college tennis player, but to also take time and to give back to the community as a Division I Athlete.”

Jasper reminds us all that a little out of our day today can make a big difference for years to come. His business acumen and dedication to the community has already earned him a position with Nike following graduation!

“It gave me a strong perspective on the opportunity to play tennis and to be an athlete and other people might not get that opportunity.”

Jasper coaching Thomas from Team Impact.

A senior on the men’s tennis team from Baton Rouge, La. Over the past three seasons, Koenen has compiled 41 victories in singles play as well as 41 wins in doubles play. Majoring in hospitality business, Koenen is a two-time ITA Scholar-Athlete and Academic All-Big Ten honoree.
